

As a Veteran and resident of the State of New Jersey, I feel that any effort by the FCC or any other Federal Agency to undermine the protection that I am being currently afford under my state laws from unwanted calls would be unjust and in my opion biased and or illegal. Keep in mind the vast majority of Federal Laws allows for more protection when a states law meets or exceeds the federal law. The Fair Debt Collections Practices Act is a prime example. If the telemarketing industry does not like the fact that they are not able to interupt the peace and tranquility of the residences of this state I say to bad mail me your sells pitch. Maybe by forcing these companies to sell thier product throught the mail it will increase the profit of the Postal system.

Thank you,

Ronald Hopkins
